

Statistics need to be systematically and uniformly collected regarding bicycling safety. Too many programs and facilities are being created by false intuition of people with good intentions but questionable factual basis.